Recent Projects

Titanic Kaggle Competition.

Entry for Kaggle competition to predict survivors of the RMS Titanic. Using R, I developed an approach using a Support Vector Machine that successfully beat the benchmark with a score of 79%.

Hautaulogy.com.

My blog, a Rails and Backbone.js app I made from the ground up.

The Government Shutdown Kept Me From....

In early October 2013, I made a simple Rails app, coupled with a Twitter bot, for people to post how the shutdown of the federal government effected them.

Experience

07.2012– Developer, *LikeBright, Seattle, WA.

Present LikeBright is a dating site that leverages Facebook data to connect people through mutual interest.

- Lead development of new features in the entire codebase.
- Provided leadership to other developers and non-technical team members alike.

06.2013 Developer, *Magneeto, Seattle, WA.

Magneeto was a winning team at the first ever Maker Edition of Startup Weeekend. In a single weekend, our team demonstrated a prototype of a simple, yet versatile means of personal data collection and analysis for a variety of exercise applications.

Detailed achievements:

- Lead development of demonstration application.
- Working together with product and hardware leads, ensured a successful, winning demo of the product.

07.2011– Data Indexer, *Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation, Seattle, WA.

07.2012 Technical documentation and metadata creation in support of the Global Health Data Exchange (GHDx), as well as IHME's many epidemiological projects.

- As a project for Ruby Certificate program at UW, I developed a data visualization tool for GHDx metadata using Rails and D3.js, a javascript data visualization library.

08.2009– Graduate Assistant, *Florida State University Libraries, Tallahassee, FL.

08.2010 During this assistantship, I gained an applied knowledge of simple web technologies such as HTML and CSS. Most of my responsibilities involved digitization efforts of the archive's collections.
